In order to comply with food hygiene regulations volunteers who help prepare, handle or cook food in the Parish Centre kitchen/premises which is being served at parish events now require a current certificate in Food Safety. Sue Blackburn has liaised with Ongo for volunteers to attend this Level 2 course. You will need to enrol in advance of the course at the Ongo Office on Cole Street. Enrolment is held each Wednesday morning from 9:30am to 12:00pm. The course is free but if you have enrolled you must attend. If you are interested please contact Sue Blackburn on 01724 331994 or email sue.blackburn5@gmail.com by Friday 24th January

Update on the Renovations at Holy Souls' Church and Presbytery

Work has been ongoing in the Presbytery at Holy Souls over the past month or so to carry out essential repairs and redecoration. Much of the work upstairs has been completed and work has begun downstairs which includes creating a larger office space.

Further work to be undertaken includes ensuring the roof of the Church and the Presbytery are watertight and to fit security window grilles at the rear and side of the Presbytery, a new boiler and fire alarms. I am hopeful that by the time Lent commences the majority of these works will have been completed. I wish to thank the anonymous benefactor who has funded and organised to date all of these works and I also wish to thank everyone who has helped out with these repairs and renovations and those to Holy Souls Church Hall and grounds.
Canon Geoffrey
